Duster, with the hope of finding a return to India. With muscle designation, a proven Renault platform (which shares with the warrant), a lot of functionality, fuel saving, a bouquet of variants, and supported by a network of rapidly expanding dealers, the duster has marked many right boxes. For the list of features and technical specifications a go here. The total quality, in the form and finishing of plastics, as well as the metal panels are impressive. Except for some bits like the back of the door handle and the storage compartment cover, nothing here feels cheap or obsolete. The wide grill, reworked bumpers and the double barrel light headlights distinguish it from the Dacia model. A raised seat and a flat bench that can accommodate three people quite comfortably are going to win smiles from Indian families. Note that Renault Duster is five-seat. The duster is aimed at jacking customers who are buying a premium sedan (VW Polo, Hyundai I20 or a Skoda Fabia) or a C-Segment segment sedan (Verna, Rapid or Sunny). Their marketing efforts will go into these two types of customers. The first spot showing people, who have just bought a sedan, crying uncontrollably, really means the positioning of the duster. In India, the SUV is a more aspirational vehicle than a sedan. A SUV in 10 lakhs is usually equipped with two folding seats or a folding bench behind the second row. The duster is tangled between these two cases. Duster will be produced completely in the Renault-Nissan alliance production facility in Chennai. Over time, exports to the UK market starts. Deliveries to Indian customers begin from 10 July. Below is the technical characteristics in PDF format and high resolution images of the Duster from the Floor Launch Delhi. Wait for a detailed video that shows the characteristics of the car, arriving at the end of the afternoon. Slideshow Renault Duster Image [Can not see the above presentation?
